EXECUTIVE DESK

Decoration of the private office as well as the desk situated in it are crucial elements in the process of image building of a modern leader. The key to achieve the desired effect is to properly select the right furniture. We recommend classic design furniture to all CEOs', whose companies, operate in branches that are based on traditional values. Fearless and bold innovators can go for more unconventional modern executive desks that indicate courage and out of the box thinking of their owner. Electrical adjustment of the worktop is an additional perk that is not only increasing comfort, but also improves everyday work.

CABINET AND STORAGES

Pedestals essential part of every organized office. The pedestals allow storing a lot in relatively small area. Minimalist yet elegant design makes it a great match for both modern and classic offices. Several variants to choose from and numerous colour options help to adjust the unit specifically to the user's needs and requirements. Seat cushionThe mobile pedestal is this transformed into seating directly at your workstation.Pull-out cabinet Increase the storage possibilities of your office with the cargo pedestal. The pull-out cabinet, equipped with a few shelves or drawers and practical accessories, will greatly help keep the working space tidy and organised. It provides a bigger storage capacity than usual pedestals. The user can choose which side (or both sides) the pedestal will be accessed from – thanks to that, it will perfectly fit into the arrangement of the working station. The cargo pedestal will be a functional finishing touch to the office spaces, lecture rooms, workshops, reception or even service facilities. The selected range of finishes in neutral colours and natural wood hues will enhance each interior's character, but without dominating it.The sliding-door cabinet from the Standard collection can save space by mounting it in hardly accessible spaces. It can be situated on a different cabinet, hung on the wall or set on the floor, which expands its range of use. The cabinet with a sliding door can be used in reception areas and study arrangements as well as public spaces and chill-out zones. Also available with shelf clearance adapted to the Middle East standards. SmartLockerTime is money. And too much of both is always wasted on things that could have been avoided.

For example, handing over laptops or other technical devices to staff . Or replacing a lock because someone has lost the key. Or because an employee has been handed a defective tool and can't do anything with it. Or for the maintenance of a mechanical lock system, because some of the locks have worn down through repeated use.

The list is almost endless. What all these issues have in common: with a SmartLocker, they would not have happened.

CHAIRS

Taking care of your health is also possible at the desk! Although flexible work methods are becoming more and more popular, office chairs remain an indispensable element of ergonomic equipment. Maintaining a long-lasting, monotonous position of the body while performing duties is harmful to health. That is why the investment in functional office chairs, allowing free movement with simultaneous stabilization of the spine, is in fact a concern for the efficiency and productivity of employees.

SEATINGS

Sofas does your office not only serve as a working space, but also has a representative zone? Make sure that your clients, contractors and customer have a comfortable spot for discussions and meetings. It will be much easier with office sofas, designed with ergonomics and everyday comfort in mind. A sofa for the waiting room will make waiting better, as it encourages casual conversations.

MOBILE WATER FALL: Air purification and climate control

For a healthy indoor climate

Water walls increase indoor humidity and create a healthy indoor climate. A thin film of water flows over a vertical glass wall and through gaseous evaporation the water is released into the air. The passive evaporation generates invisible water vapor that is free from harmful germs and bacteria. Water objects can function as air purifiers, filtering and removing suspended matter such as dust and pollen from the air. Grease from food odors and toxins adhering to the dust are also neutralized a particularly positive effect for people with allergies.

MOBILE GREEN WALL : hedge elements for a healthy indoor climate

Plant partitions for greening & improving acoustics

hedge elements serve as natural plant partitioning in indoor spaces and provide optimum indoor air quality. As highly efficient air filters, the plant hedges, with a full covering of leaves, can filter formaldehyde, benzene, and other harmful substances out of the air. When combined with an acoustically effective filling, they can also improve the indoor acoustics.

BOOTH

Booths Phone conversation without disruptions, maximum concentration or a meeting in a small group? Our office booths meet the needs of modern spaces: from production halls to open and co-working spaces. To bring creativity and team flow provide your office with an alternative of a truly private space. What is the effect? The feeling of satisfaction and enhanced efficiency.

SE : Cubese:cube offers the perfect solution for the future of agile working. Its sophisticated structure ensures the ideal acoustics and atmosphere. The presence detector controls both lighting and ventilation, thus guaranteeing that nothing more and nothing less than the power actually needed is consumed. The red, all-round LED lighting indicates whether the module is occupied at any given time, and the individual colour scheme and the freely selectable interior round off the office cube solution. It'll therefore be a perfect match with the furniture in the surrounding area.
